DETAILED ACTION

This application filed March 27, 2001 claims benefit to foreign application 00201108.8 filed March 27, 2000 with European Patent Office.

Applicants' amendment filed September 2, 2004, has been received and entered. Claims 15 and 19 have been amended. Claims 15, 16, 19, 20 and 21 are pending and currently under examination.

Election/Restriction

As indicated previously, Groups VII and VIII were rejoined because it was Examiner indicated that a search of SEQ ID NO: 9 would identify partial sequences as encompassed by SEQ ID NO: 1, and thus, would not constitute an undue burden. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in Paper No. 9.

Reasons for Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As indicated previously claims 15, 16 and 19-21 are free of the art of record. The amendments to the claims have addressed and obviated the remaining rejection of record made under 35 USC 112, second paragraph. The present invention is based in part on the observation that SEQ ID NOs: 1 and 9 when administered and expressed in a cell induce apoptosis in said cell. Interestingly, the expression of SEQ ID NOs: 1 and 9 induces apoptosis in malignant and transformed cell lines, both p53 positive and p53 negative, however does not appear to affect many normal cell types. The specific activity of the protein encoded by SEQ ID NOs: 1 and 9 that induces apoptosis is not known, however the present specification teaches that the difference in localization of the protein in a transformed versus a non-transformed cell is different, in the nucleus versus the cytoplasm, respectively. Given the working examples in the present specification demonstrating the apoptotic affect of SEQ ID NOs: 1 and 9 expressed in transformed cell types, there clear support for inducing apoptosis in a cell, and a reasonable expectation that this affect would occur in vivo when administered to a transformed cell.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
